Judge Nielson,

I never intended to injure anyone, and for many years I believed there were no human victims of our act in 1996. That is until I was presented with the victim statements. Upon reading them I realized our act had a severe impact upon innocent people, for which I am profoundly sorry. And if it were possible for me to go back through time and slap some sense into the stupid-fool who I was in 1996, I would do so in a heartbeat. But no man can roll back time and correct his foolhardy mistakes. And that man of 1996 no longer exists - all that remains of him is a burnt and old fool who will never recover from his stupidity, nor be able to assuage the damage he has done.

I had hoped only to awaken people to the folly of spending the future of your posterity with impossible debt and the obligation of that same posterity to an early demise. At such nation in the annals of man has endured when they have been so. But our methods turned out to be an exercise in profound stupidity.

And though we took the steps of acting on a day the Planned Parenthood Clinic was closed and evacuated the bank personnel before setting the charge to ensure no human physical injuries, the psychological impact was not as we did not foresee, and for which I shall be plagued for the remainder of my days. If I could I would undo my act. I know of no way to do so.

And as I am age 75 this month and in declining health there is no reward for my acts.

I still believe no nation or nation can endure who have spent their future and decimated their posterity. But I now also know people who have done such cannot be awakened to the consequences of their acts - as history is stark evidence and witness. And I hope they do not even attempt to do so.

The nation is removed from their foundational principles can endure. And it is surely your prerogative to dispose of me as you see fit. If you elect to release me I shall prefer to go to Kodiak, Alaska and support myself in service to the fishing fleet. As a fully spent the culture and economy of the United States.

soon collapse, and I want me part of that show.

I expect Alaska to be as removed as I can get from what has already begun: The beginning of services.

I pray for the people of this land as Judgment matures. May the Creator have mercy on us all. But I fear that He who rules in the affairs of man will not forgive the murder of tens of millions of innocent unborn - for who can be more innocent than they who have yet to draw breath; and He shall not forget the plunder of the honest laborer by the fraudulent expedient of fiat currency. And the time of His Recompense is come upon us all. And as He has promised, so too shall He perform.

I never intended to injure anyone. And for many years I believed there were no human victims of our acts in 1996. That is until I was presented with the Victim Statements. Upon reading I realized our acts had a severe impact upon innocent people, for which I am profoundly sorry. And if it were possible for me to go back through time and slap some sense into the stupid fool who I was in 1996, I would do so in a heartbeat. But no man can roll back time and correct his foolhardy mistakes. And that man of 1996 no longer exists – all that remains of him is a brunt out old fool who will never recover from his stupidity nor be able to assuage the damage he has done.

I had hoped only to awaken people to the folly of spending the future of your posterity with impossible debt and the relegation of that same posterity to an early demise. No such nation in the annals of man has endured when they have done so. But our methods turned out to be an exercise in profound stupidity.

And though we took the steps of acting on a day the Planned Parenthood Clinic was closed and evacuated the bank personnel before setting the charge to ensure no human physical injuries the psychological impact was one we did not foresee, and for which I shall be plagued for the remainder of my days. If I could I would undue my acts. I know of no way to do so.

And as I am aged 75 this month and in declining health there is no amend for my acts.

I still believe no nation or culture can endure who have spent their future and decimated their posterity, but I now also know people who have done such cannot be awakened to the consequence of their acts – as history is stark evidence and witness. And it is pointless to even attempt to do so.

No nation so removed from their foundational principles can endure. And it is surely your prerogative to dispose of me as you see fit. If you elect to release me I shall prefer to go to Kenai, Alaska and support myself in service to the fishing fleet. As I fully expect the culture and economy of the United States to soon collapse, and I want no part of that chaos. I expect Alaska to be as removed as I can get from what has already begun: The beginning of sorrows.

I pray for the people of this land as judgment matures. May the Creator have mercy on as all. But I fear that He who rules in the affairs of man will not forgive the murder of tens of millions of innocent unborn – for who can be more innocent than they have yet to draw breath; and He shall not forget the plunder of the honest laborer by the fraudulent expedient of fiat currency.
